Opis produktu

A shiny metallic set of foreplay dice that work for a couple or for a group of close friends. Blue and purple dice combine to make one foreplay action: green and gold the second. The silver die describes how to carry out a combination. For each turn, a player rolls all five dice and it is up to the roller to properly determine how to interpret the silver die. When playing as a couple, you decide which foreplay action to act out on your lover and when you roll both genitals sides on two of the dice, you win, and your reward is sex! For group plays, you divide into teams and act out the actions on other players in an attempt to get the other team to drop out. The last team with one or more players, wins! Kheper Games, Inc. is excited to announce Let's Get Slutty! Dice as a new game joining their extensive line of award winning adult games. The game utilizes new technology that allows the dice to be metallic without having to be made of metal. Let's Get Slutty is a game of 5 brilliantly colored dice that can be played either as a foreplay and sex play game by a couple, or as a group party game. When playing as a couple, a roller decides which of the two sets of dice to act out on their lover. The couple plays until someone rolls both genitals dice on the purple and gold dice. That player wins, and gets to decide on a favorite sex position as a reward. When playing as a group, players divide into two teams however they wish and each selects to either be the Blue/Purple Team or the Green/Gold Team. Players take turns rolling all 5 dice. If the roller wishes to carry out his team's pairing, he performs it on a teammate. If he prefers to take the other team's combination, he performs the action on one of their teammates. If a recipient wishes to refuse the action another player wants to act out with them, they exit the game. The team with players remaining after another team's members have all resigned, wins the game.
